Benefits of a good spotlight

With a boring week of school behind me, I was back off towards my parents place in Ensay for the weekend. On arrival I noticed a new toy sitting on the dinner table, a new Lightforce spotlight, thanks for the present Dad!

My brother Stuart and I were very eager to go try it out, so we set out in the Nissan Patrol as soon as darkness had washed over the surrounding hills.

We drove a very short distance to the first property, where Stuart turned on the spotlight as soon as we got through the gate.

There shining back at us were a set of suspicious looking eyes.

I couldn't believe it Stuart had only just turned on the spotlight and it looked like there was a feral cat on the opposite hill face.

Sure enough, upon inspection through the scope on 10X (my favourite all round setting for the .220 swift) I found a small black cat wondering along a worn game trail. With a few bleats from the predator call the cat stopped at about 120metres, I exhaled slowly and squeezed the crisp double stage trigger, shattering the silence with a nice sounding "boom!" and "thump!" as the 50gr Vmax reload hit home.

After picking up the cat and taking some photos, we proceeded on further admiring the beam the new spotlight threw, it was absolutely awesome! Far superior to any of the previous spotlights we had owned.

We knew a fox hotspot was coming up so I adjusted the bipod legs so that the rifle would be close to level across the bonnet, should a fox be spotted.

As soon as we rounded the gully Stuart picked up a set of fox eyes in the spotlight. I quickly got out and positioned myself to shoot. The fox was running up the centre of the gully before stopping and looking back after a bombardment of yelling from Stuart and I.

Feature Story

At about 150 metres I confidently sent a Vmax on its way and the fox's livestock eating days were ended. We took a few photos and headed back home with big grins on our faces.

It's always good to have a short successful spotlighting trip, and all the farmers in the area are stoked to have us out cleaning up vermin that they would otherwise have to do themselves.

This new spotlight increased our visibility, provided faster target identification and allowed us to find the downed ferals far easier. I would recommend to anyone using an average spotlight to invest in a good one, it'll save you heaps of time and give you better results.

I couldn't think of a better present.

New Eliminator LaserScope[™] 4-12x42mm with Eliminator LaserScope Re-

The Eliminator LaserScope is in a league of its own. No other riflescope combines this level of quality, technology, accuracy, simplicity, repeatability and effectiveness. You do the hunting and shooting, the Eliminator LaserScope will do the memorising and calculating. No more guessing distance or fumbling with a handheld device. No more losing sight of your trophy. No more guessing holdover. The Eliminator LaserScope, your hunting partner, knows exactly how far away your game stands and exactly what your cartridge will do. With the Eliminator LaserScope, just Range, Aim and Fire.

The Eliminator LaserScope provides a sophisticated yet very simple and accurate means of tailoring the scope's trajectory compensation to virtually any cartridge. The Eliminator LaserScope provides a listing of nearly 600 factory loaded cartridges along with a two digit drop number associated with each. A few clicks in the set-up mode is all it takes to enter or change the drop number to perfectly match your specific cartridge's Eliminator performance.

Our own Hunting, Fishing & CAmping store in the Southern Highlands, NSW.

The brand new Field and Stream Australia store in Bong Bong street is attracting attention. The striking new signage is easy to spot amongst the other shopfronts and natural curiosity has passers-by dropping by to see what this new retail outlet has to offer.

Fishing fanatics, campers and hunters will know storeowner Craig Golding. He has been a specialist in his field for 22 years and his affable manner and wealth of knowledge is a great bonus to the community.

The new shop offers everything from archery supplies, fishing and hunting equipment, and camping gear.

The renowned Strudwick range of fishing rods and reels, as well as Stalker fly-fishing products, are also available at the shop.

Basic bait will also be available by the time the new season swings around in the form of pilchards, prawns squid and whitebait.

Fishing licences can soon be obtained from the store as well as the much needed R-license.

Under new legislation, the Game and Feral Animal Control Act, anyone wishing to hunt game and feral species on declared public land in NSW will require a Restricted NSW Game Hunting Licence (R-Licence) from the Game Council of NSW.

Craig is an expert in his field and loves talking to everyone experienced or otherwise about the best places to fish or hunt, the necessary apparatus needed for a successful expedition, or simply to advise on technique and methods.

Top of the range archery products such as Hoyt, PSE and Browning are stocked at Field and Stream Australia as is the Ridgeline Outdoor Clothing line.

They offer an after-hours appointment service for anyone heading off to their favourite location who has forgotten that much needed piece of equipment.

Craig prides himself on supporting other businesses in the Southern Highlands.

Fenix TK11

The Fenix Tactical series (T) features a powerful, solid, durable, and waterproof design intended for rugged outdoor and military use.

The TK11 can use either two CR123A batteries (primary or li-ion) or one rechargeable 18650 battery with a protective circuit, and it maintains excellent constant brightness with two output modes: General mode, which can last for a whole night and can be used for general illumination, and Turbo mode, which can be used whenever high-powered light is needed - search and rescue, long-range target identification, etc

This TK11 features Cree's new R5 LED, which boasts better efficiency for higher output per mode.

Hunter's Backpack

This pack is large enough for use in backpack hunting and then light enough to use as a day pack with only essentials aboard. No need to carry in a second pack to your hunting area.

The rifle section will be appreciated for ease of carry of your firearm when not hunting. Proper weight distribution is most important when walking in mountainous areas.

Features include:

- * Main compartment access all at once due to three sided zip closure.
- * Rifle compartment central position for best weight distribution of the whole pack
- * Can pack rifle barrel up or down and seal from the weather. In any case drain holes at the bottom.
- * Easy access zipped compartment at the top for small items.
- * Compression straps to hold contents in place in less than fully loaded pack.
- * Plenty of attachment points for tying items to the outside of pack.
- * Wide padded adjustable waist strap.

GUNS'R'US

- * Sectional padding on rear of the pack to match your back shape.
- * Roll up and secure bottom of rifle compartment if not in use.
- * Water bladder section.
- * Two way adjustable padded shoulder straps.

Fed Up - shooting

Posted by will-nsw 18 Aug 2010

Wow, what a hot topic this was! Started off with a bold statement and then quickly turned into placement vs calibre discussion with some handy tips for newbies along the way. Funny enough in the end everyone was fed up with fed up!

Is The Safety Course A Farce?

Posted by Farmgirl 11 Oct 2010

In light of recent times, suggestions flowed for improving the safety course with many opting for a more hands on approach, whilst the other half arguing that common sense should prevail when handling firearms. However, the topic did remind all that SAFETY is number one.

Vic Boys Getting Together weekend camp

Posted by optic 09 Aug 2010

A great sign of the AusHunt community is people organising hunts or camps through the forum so members can meet face to face. Seems this camp was well organised though bad weather conditions and factors of life put a few people off in the end. The members that made it all had good reports of a great time and look forward to the next....

Should Australians Have The Right To Bear Arms? - 2UE Webpoll - Rights

The power of the AH community is that we can now respond quickly to online media polls to balance the votes. The topic continues with some confusion about the meaning of 'bear arms' and also draws some comparisons to the American system.
